Agnew Condemns Violence, Expresses Need For Change

By Roger Aylworth
Universe Staff Writer

condemning the tactics of violence is not concluding there is need for change," stated Vice President Spiro T. Agnew during his address to Thursday's forum.

Vice President went on to state that the basic "difference between a free society and a totalitarian one is their treatment of dissent and means."

He said the campus disorders have recently flared up are more than either delinquency or terrorism. The Vice President said this unrest may cause a reaction.

He remarked, "We have a breed of self-appointed leaders arising." According to the President these "counter leaders" are taking the law in their own hands because the administrations did not react to campus disruptions.

"Many colleges and universities—ones we do not read about—have developed legitimate and immediate methods for students to articulate their grievances," stated the Vice President.

He continued, "However questioning and criticizing and listening must be done objectively, logically and above all lawfully. When administrators and faculties capitulate before storm trooper tactics, they are not only doing a grave disservice to the academic freedom but to all freedoms."

He also asked the question, "Does every high school graduate need or desire to spend four years in college?" He remarked that many attending colleges and universities can't use and don't want this type of higher education.

He said that students who don't feel they fit become angered and disgusted with a society that, causes them to feel this way.

He made the point, "... there is little the federal government can do in this situation." The people must realize that the price of freedom is responsibility.

The Vice President expressed the opinion that it is the home that must teach responsibility. "Parent discipline is the gateway to knowledge." He asked if this institution fails can any other succeed?

He concluded his address with, "The American system has never been stronger or more vital. The American conscience is awake—and the American spirit is very much alive."

President Wilkinson expressed agreement with the Vice President's views.

LOTS AND LOTS OF PEOPLE

... are expected to participate in Y-Day activities, including white washing the Y. Traditionally, many of the people who put white wash on the Y seem to get more of the white substance on themselves than any where else.

Y-Day Betterment Combines Fun And Unique Tradition

By Mike Barney
News Editor

Y-Day is a lot of different things to a lot of different people.

Y-Day is also a unique tradition in the world—where else would a large majority of the students in a university work for half a day for the betterment of the community they live in nine months of the year?

BAD IMAGE

With the "bad public relations" the majority of America's colleges have today, it is a wonder that there are still enough people in the area who will trust students' cleaning up.

Each of the wards on campus has an assignment—and to be sure there is work to be done—but with the right people and the right attitude, the work can seem like fun. And then the fun begins in earnest.

WHOLE AFTERNOON

Activities are planned for the entire afternoon—so those who had planned on studying may just as well forget the idea. That is, unless they want to be considered "out of the groove."

Actually, events for Y-Day begin officially on Friday night. The concert, featuring the New York Rock and Roll, has become just as much a tradition of Y-Day as the whitewashing of the "Y."

And that, after all is a major part of the reason for Y-Day.

GUARD Y

Even though the IK's guard the block "Y" on the side of "Y" Mountain from the evil designs of some students at an institution to the north—after a year of wear and tear, it can get to be pretty grubby looking.

It takes a lot of people to form a bucket brigade from the beginning of the trail to the top of the "Y"—but that is one thing BYU has lots of—people.

Interested people on the campus can observe the people on the Y as they inch their way up and down the path. The whole process looks much like a strung-out anthill in action.

PLANNING IMPORTANT

Planning for the Y-Day celebration began last year. But as the long-awaited day approaches, the activity in the Y-Day office becomes progressively more frantic.

Candidates Victorious

A tie and two surprises enlivened class elections Thursday, although the turnout was light.

A big campaign by Dave Ross reversed a heavy deficit in the primaries and he won the senior class presidency, 235 to 175. Twice as many people voted as in the primaries.

The junior class also doubled its turnout, and most of the new votes were for John Nagle, who almost defeated Tom Parry. Parry ended with 256 votes to Nagle's 220.

A tie resulted in the graduate class election. Glen Erwin won the toss and will become next year's president. The vote was 82 to 82.

The results for the sophomore class were essentially unchanged as Kent Smith won with ease, 282, 140.

VICE PRESIDENT AGNEW SPEAKS OUT

speaking for the first time in Utah since his election in November, Vice President Agnew had much to say. Universe Photographer, Pat Christian, got the moods and the motions of the Vice President. The main point of his speech was that violence is not an adequate means of affecting social change.

Tickets are free and can be picked up in the Wilkinson Center Reception Center before Friday at 5 p.m. and at the door. Sensible Hints Will Help

"Good Sense" should be the by-words for Y-Day. This is especially appropriate for those students of the Third and Fourth Stakes who will be whitewashing the "Y."

The following are some "Good Sense" suggestions for the "Y" Mountain project.

1. Stay on the road, as this will prevent any cuts, abrasions, and otherwise painful memories of a happy day. It also provides for a safer and less exhausting climb.
2. Enjoy the climb and the view, but watch the little playful acts that could cause someone to become part of the scenery.
3. Sunburn can be extremely painful and annoying so protect yourself with some lotion.
4. Lime leaves permanent scars, so long pants and shoes are a must for safety's sake.
5. If you should get some lime spilled on you there will be members of the Alpine Club on the mountain who will help care for minor splashes but should anyone spit a larger amount on themselves there will be a doctor and nurse on duty to wash the area. This must be done immediately as clothing is no real protection from lime burns. So use "good sense" and be careful.

6. Girls, if you don't want to be embarrassed, don't wear tight pants on the mountain as they have a tendency to split at the seams under stress. But in case you should have a split, see a member of the Alpine Club for a safety pin or two.

7. Since "Y" Mountain is such a big project several men will be on the mountain to help direct the passing of the lime and to help get the project done safely. This will help to have a safe and memorable experience.

If students will follow the above safety precautions they can have a happy Y-Day.

ALL AGLOW

... the "Y" will be lit Saturday night thanks to the efforts of BYU's Intercollegiate Knights. The torches will be lit at 10 p.m. Afterwards, a torch-light parade will wind down the mountain. The end of Y-Day '69.

IK's To Light 'Y'

By Scott Duncan
Universe Staff Writer

The IK's will really shine Saturday night.

Saturday the Intercollegiate Knights light the "Y" again to celebrate Y-Day. They'll also have a torch-light parade down the mountain when the "Y" is lit, about 11:30 p.m.

Another part of their duties is to guard the "Y" from "Barbarians from the north," who may be visiting Saturday, if they are not attracted by the Golden Spike celebration.

Preparations are already being made for the big event. It takes 150 gallons of crankcase oil and several mattresses to fuel the fire.

The oil and mattress stuffing must be mixed together and poured in 5-gallon cans to be dragged up "Y" Mountain. There are 25 cans to be carried up the steep slope.

IK pledges knead the mix together in the form of smoke pots and light them with torches. The pots are placed at three to four foot intervals around the "Y."

Lighting the "Y" is one of the oldest traditions at BYU. The letter itself was made in 1906. Among the builders was Dr. H. W. Fletcher, then a junior. The blow "Y" dates from 1921, but by the tradition had already started.

In 1918 the Gold "Y" Bo started lighting the "Y." Now they do it five times a year: on Y-Day, freshman orientation, during Homecoming, for the Belle of Y celebration and for graduation. In 1941 the Gold "Y" Bo joined the national Intercollegiate Knight organization. The BY chapter has recently been named the "Chapter of the Year" by the national leadership of IK.

The "Y" is the largest logo letter in the United States.

ERA-LEFT?

Editor:

Yesterday, just prior to Dr. Henry Steele Commager's 10:00 a.m. lecture in the Varsity Theatre, some unknown, but apparently very knowledgeable individual, handed out a sheet of "some facts on Dr. Commager which didn't make the Universe," which implicated Dr. Commager as pro-communist.

One of the allegations was the supposed "fact" that Dr. Commager has been "a national officer of the "American Civil Liberties Union," that motley collection of defenders of subversion, crime and licentiousness."

Last night, while glancing through "The Improvement Era" (April, 1969) I noted that one of the articles on "Adventures in Learning" was written by a member of the executive board of the American Civil Liberties Union, that "motley collection of defenders of subversion, crime and licentiousness." Incidentally he also teaches Sunday School. Quite a paradox, brethren.

Now, would you say that "The Improvement Era" is communally subversive, and un-American? Do "The Biographical Dictionary of the Left" mention "The Improvement Era" or its editor? Happy with hunting.

' Soccer Journeys USF, Stanford

By Jim Hunt
Universe Sports Writer

Francisco University, 1966 soccer champion, will attempt to ruin BYU 'A's stated record Friday in the city, before the Cats journey to Alto to meet Stanford Saturday.

USF has made California trips in previous seasons, and has come with splits both times. This time the Cougars want a pair of BYU's game will mark the first split between BYU and San Francisco. It has all the earmarks of a game, since neither team is coming to losing.

Francisco is, in fact, the last team to win the NCAA title. In 1967, Michigan State and St. Louis were co-champions, but fell, Michigan State drew Maryland for the title.

Stanford has provided criticism for BYU twice. In 1967, Stanford won the first game, and last year, the Cats beat 6-4, as Bill Forrest netted three goals.

The soccer team will take an away record of 13 wins, 1 to California, not including Tuesday night's Berlin game in Provo. Results of that game were available at press time.

The Cougars are all healthy at the start of the trip, an important factor with the schedule showing three games in four days. Al Buffington has a painful leg infection, but he is playing in practice, and will be ready for the weekend's matches.

Meanwhile, BYU 'B' will close its league schedule Saturday against the University of Utah in Salt Lake. The team will have to win to finish in third place.

This will be a tall order, since Utah is the only team to blemish the record of BYU 'A' when the Utes tied the Cats recently.

However, BYU 'B' feels it has a style advantage over BYU 'A' against Utah.

Kittens Play Today

BYU's freshman baseball team attempts to preserve an undefeated season as it hosts the Utah frosh for a doubleheader beginning at 1 p.m.

The Kittens currently are sailing along with a 12-0 record which includes six wins over the Papooses.

This year's frosh have been led by pitchers Craig Hunt and Greg Faux and a number of sluggers hopeful of varsity play next year. Today's games will be the last home athletic event of the school year.

The remaining four contests for the Kittens are in Cedar City on May 10, and in Salt Lake City, May 17. The two battles, against College of Southern Utah and Utah, are both doubleheaders.

All-Star Rugby Game Features BYU Stars

By Chuck Peterson
Universe Sports Writer

The Western Rockies Rugby Union (Utah) officially announced its player selection for the upcoming Rocky Mountain All-Star game to be held Saturday at 3 p.m. on Haws Field.

The selections were made by the coaches of the various teams in the union plus Sid Scott, president of the union, and Geoffrey Glover and Floyd Ormsby, rugby referees in the Utah area.

BYU "A" placed 11 out of the 15 on the squad. A ruling which states that there will be no substitution during the game limits the all-star selection to 15 players.

Under normal circumstances in an all-star game there would be substitution for injury.

Among the forwards chosen for the WRU All-Star team are props Jerry Cook and Joe Scimlin, hooker Russ McAdams, backs Jeff Wight and Mike Dunn, break-away

John Shurtz and last-man-down Jim Grant.

Backs chosen for the squad were halfback Larry Hardin, five-eighths Bob Wilson, second-five-eighths Jim Ririe, center Inoke Funaki and fullback Dale Johnson.

Unanimous choices by all the rugby selectors were Inoke Funaki, Dale Johnson, Russ McAdams and Larry Hardin.

Representing the other rugby squads in the Western Rockies Rugby Union will be Danny Craig from the University of Utah, Ler Going, former BYU rager, from the Salt Lake City Rugby Club, and Tony and Jerry Spanos from the Bountiful Rugby Club.

The Eastern Rockies Rugby Union (Colorado) All-Star team will be made up of players from the Air Force Academy, University of Colorado, Colorado State College, Colorado School of Mines, Denver Barbarians and Denver Highlanders.

Several other quality ranked teams will also be competing," said assistant coach Fred Hirschi.

Mountain Cat thin-clads are scheduled in five relays and have a chance to place high in each

The two spring relays (440 run and 80 run) San Jose State and the University of Southern California will be favored. Writes in the mile relay are San Jose State, UCLA, and BYU.

Long power will figure also in the two-mile and distance medley relays. The other WAC schools, UTEP, will field teams in these events too.

Several open events will round out the slate at Fresno. Three hurdle races and the 100 yard dash are the only open running events, but all the field competitions will be held.

Gary Thacker will compete against the class sprinters in the nation in the 100, Tom Bonin and Don French will have their hands full in the 120 yard high hurdles, and Ralph Mann, Bonin, and Jim Maw will be entered in the 440 intermediates.

Mann, the best intermediate hurdler in the nation to date, will get a chance to prove just how good he really is. His event is run without divisions between university and open competition.

Chris Cellion and Dan Mendenhall will join several other seven-foot high jumpers in their specialty. Cougars competing in the long jump will be Jim Blaisdell, Karl Palmieri, and John Robinson. Finnish ace Pertti Pouti has a sore back and will not make the trip.

The field events will be rounded out by Mike Hoffman in the discus and Juhani Nummela in the javelin. Dick Legas will not compete as he injured his elbow last weekend.

To win the meet the Cats need good performances in the relays, since these count twice as much as open events in the team scoring.

Another segment of the team will travel to Weber State Saturday.

Attention All 1969 Graduates

Congratulations on this fine achievement! If you are thinking about automobiles, may we suggest that you don't buy a car unless you can afford one and then BUY ONLY WHAT YOU CAN AFFORD. If you have decided upon an employer and will require transportation, we sincerely believe your best buy is a brand new 1969 Volkswagen because:

1. Financing: A bank loan can be arranged for entire purchase price. First monthly payment due in July.
2. Fun Car. The 1969 VW is the best ever and is a real pleasure to own and drive.
3. Economy. Low original cost, highest resale value, 24,000 mile written warranty, extremely low operating costs.

So please come in, try out a VW, and talk over your car needs.

Corps De Ballet's Spring Performance

By Jessie Tanner
Cultural Writer

Monday night was the opening performance of the Spring Ballet. The structure of a ballet variation may vary slightly from group to group, generally a group is defined as a group of people working together to create the arts of movement, painting and story. The company director is first in line organization. He is the instructor, the one who directs artists will best complement and produce the ballet. The company director brings in the choreographer, costume designer, and time designer. He also hires the right combination of people who will work creatively together.

The company director is Allen. He received her MFA in Ballet at the University of Utah and is now at BYU.

In the ballet organization is a choreographer, who starts with a story for a ballet. He may have a story that he wants to set to music or he may have had some original idea.

The choreographer must have a great deal of experience as a dancer in order to know the range of his dancers. He also has a knowledge of painting and history. He is able to communicate his ideas to the dancers.

There are three choreographers for the Spring Concert. One is Wankins, applying great skill to present her understanding of ballet, choreographed "The Girl of Ballet."

Line Prohoshky created "La Fille du Ballet" by fitting both precise and movements with the music. She has a great talent for the moving form of a dancer.

Allen choreographed the "Forever and Ever" Miss "has combined beautiful music by Holst and unique steps to help tell the story.

German Sojourn Sharpens U.S. Worth

(Editor's note: The following was received from Del D. Wazem, a former BYU student, now in Germany near the East-West border.)

Walking near a U.S. military installation a short time ago my companion and I were stopped by the sound of "Taps," as the American flag was being lowered. I was reminded of the many times I had similarly paused on campus at the "V."

A growing acquaintanceship with world history and politics has somewhat tarnished my naive faith in America's infallibility, but many things that I have experienced here have given me a greater appreciation for America.

My experiences here in Germany have given me a greater pride in being an American. I am thankful for the freedom that we enjoy. I am thankful for the attitudes of tolerance, responsibility, decency, and the sense of the worth of the individual that the American environment fosters.

TAKEN FOR GRANTED
These things I took for granted until meeting people such as the old man who left his small business because he was no longer allowed to say how or what should be done with the things he had worked for.

SOCIETY MORE IMPORTANT
Even more sobering have been my talks with the people—many of them youth—who have been convinced that an individual is insignificant, that the functioning of a society is more important.

As the flag was being lowered that day I thought of these things. I am aware of our shortcomings as Americans and am troubled by them, but I am also aware that these problems can and must be corrected and that this can only be accomplished when we as Americans are aware of what we have been given and have the desire to realize the potential of our great heritage.

To remove blood stains, sponge with cold water then powder quickly with starch. After the starch dries, brush it off. You can also apply ammonia to blood spots before washing with good results.
